It is the only paper that presents each week's worth of statements of circulation. The Daily and Sunday completely cover the advertising field with a circulation approximating over 35,000 weekly. THE WEEKLY COURIER is the organ of the Connelville coke trade and one of the newest weeklies in Fayette county.

THE CURFEW.

Nearly every night when the curfew whistle is sounded, someone may be heard remarking upon the utter ineffectiveness it appears to have upon a certain number of boys who go on playing and loitering about the streets just as though they did not know its meaning. To some extent the curfew appears to have become a sort of a dead letter in Latrobe, and despite the well-intentioned efforts of the police all boys and girls under the age of sixteen do not break for their homes at nine o'clock. The blame for the ineffectiveness of the curfew, in nine cases out of ten, rests with the parents, and the following from the Bloomsburg Daily Sentinel describing a home-made curfew might be applied with good results in Latrobe. "Every family should have a curfew which should positively 'ring tonight' and every night if needed. These curfews are inexpensive and home made. Take a piece of thin board two feet long and whitewash one end down to a handle; then take the child that needs the curfew and bend him over a barrel. Now take the piece of siding in the hand and use it for a clapper. Put it on hot. Divide the strokes evenly and see that none miss. Good for a boy or girl up to the age of 16, and applications are warranted to cure the most pronounced case of street walking that exists. The music the curfew makes is finer than singing 'Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?'"

CONCEALED WEAPONS.

Washington, October 29.—The carrying of concealed weapons is illegal. It is opposed to common sense as well as to the printed statutes. The evil should be stamped out now. Washington county will not then be afflicted with the man who, having hate in his heart and a pistol in his pocket, load up on cheap liquor and go out to add another to the pitiful list of homicides which has grown in the county in recent years.

DO IT YOURSELF.

Greensburg Star.
It is important to every voter that he is registered. Your name must be on the registry list or you can't vote at the coming election in November. The last day for registration is September 1 and on that day and the day preceding the assessors will sit at the polling places and any person entitled to do so may have his name put on the list and can have the correction made at that time. If the assessor has missed you in making up his list this is the opportunity for you to correct it. You must also be assessed or you cannot pay your taxes, and unless you have a tax receipt you cannot vote. The last day for the payment of taxes is October 5. It is of the greatest importance that voters see that they are registered on or before September 4 and that their taxes are paid on or before October 5. The way to be sure about it is to see to it yourself.

WARNING PHYSICIANS.

McKeesport News.
Physicians who violate the laws in regard to reporting contagious diseases to the Board of Health should not complain if they suddenly find themselves defendants in a suit before a local alderman. It is just as wrong for a physician to violate the health laws as for a layman. In the eyes of the law, and to the layman it appears much worse. Due notice should be taken, then, of the warning issued by Secretary A. J. Richards of the Board of Health that all physicians failing to report typhoid fever cases will be prosecuted under the recent act of assembly.

FREE BRIDGES.

ROMANCE SPOILED.

Jamison Girl of Tender Years Tries to Elope to Cumberland and Lands in Jail.

Special to The Courier.
GREENSBURG, Aug. 30.—Instead of being the happy blushing bride that she hoped to be last night Alice Montgomery now languishes in the county jail on a charge of incestuously preferring by her father and it is likely that the parent will ask for her detention in a house of correction until her habits mend. Yesterday morning Alice, in company with a young fellow employed as a mule driver in the mines at Jamison No. 1, was intercepted as the couple were about to board a street car for Connelville, from which place she is expected to reach Cumberland on the B. & O. railroad and there have the nuptial knot tied.
In a neatly done-up package was a shoe box containing their dinner and everything was complete for the flight. The father of the girl, George Montgomery, a well known farmer of near Jamison No. 1, got wind of the affair and hastened to Greensburg just in time to stop the runaway. He swore out a warrant for the girl and had her sent to jail.
Alice is only 17 years of age, but is a well developed girl. She has an attractive face and behaved herself well in the Squire's office. However, her father says that she will not behave herself at home and persists on going about the mines and associating with the men.

RINGGOLD REUNION ENDS.

CHARLELOT, Pa., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—The joint reunion of the Ringgold Battalion and the McNeil Rangers, which was brought to a close last evening, was pronounced the most successful gathering of veterans of the Civil War ever held in Western Pennsylvania. The old soldiers were royally entertained by the people of Charlelot and vicinity, almost the entire day being given over to seeing the sights of the Monongahela Valley, ending with a boat ride up stream.
Last night the veterans were guests of the Elks at their handsome club house, where an elaborate banquet was spread. Among the noted men present were Colonel Joan J. Greenfield of Chicago, the President of the Ringgold Association, and Captain William Griffith, commander of Company B, during the war, and formerly State Bank Examiner of Maryland. A feature of the reunion was the reading of the history of the celebrated Ringgold command by Historian Frank D. Hanson of Washington, D. C. The next reunion will be held at West Middletown.

For Children Given Yesterday Afternoon by Misses Cohen.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cohen on Second street, New Haven, was the scene of a delightful children's birthday party given yesterday afternoon by Misses Della and Catherine Cohen in honor of their cousin Miss Florence Levinson of Mt. The hours were from 2 until 5 o'clock, during which time various games helped to make the afternoon a most enjoyable one.

The feature game was planning the ball on a donkey, little Miss Louise Rinsch being the winner of the prize, which was a pretty china cup and saucer. Miss Gertrude Gopher and Miss Nannie Seaton rendered several pleasing piano selections, which were highly appreciated by the little ones. At 4 o'clock a pretty appointed luncheon was served. About 35 guests were present.

The other suits have come that can be worn in September, October, and even January, that will be here only too soon. We have heard of this article "Suits That Fit," because that is the way a customer described them in the other day. She said that somehow they seemed to have something about them that you could always tell them from other suits. We have you can see this difference just as she could once you see the suits. Then again there is a wide difference. Know that we can find to sell and do as well as this on a closer examination of your other suits in this city. We believe that we are enabled to sell more suits by being satisfied with this smaller profit and also believe that you appreciate it when your store can save you from $2.00 to $3.00 on your Fall Suit. One way for you to verify these statements is to come and see the suits and learn the prices.

"We will go in," said Sidney. "Mr. West and I will keep a lookout."

There was no afternoon siesta that day. In the bright sunlight, the veranda was alive with flaming headlines and rustling newspapers. For two hours scarcely a word was spoken. Each man read in silence; intent on those items of news in which he had a personal interest. Again they lived over the events of the 18 days which had passed—this time not on the decks of a yacht, or in a tropical wilderness, but in New York.

NOT ENOUGH GOOD STEEDS

Military Officers Recommend the Establishment of a Remount Station Near Newport, Ky.—All the Horses Will Be Trained For Service.

Officers at Fort Thomas have recommended the site of the old government rifle range, on the Licking river, back of Newport, Ky., as a desirable location for one of the six remount stations that will shortly be established by the war department to furnish horses for the United States army, says the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

It is the intention of the war department to raise all horses that are to be used in the future by the cavalry, artillery and infantry divisions of the army as well as mules for the quartermaster and commissary departments.

At the present time great difficulty is encountered to supply enough good horses for the army. Agents of the war department scour the country regions and buy up all desirable horses.

During the recent Japanese war talk it was pointed out by army officers that the United States could not properly mount the different branches of the service, as there are barely enough desirable horses on the market to supply the present standing army of 90,000. It would be a difficult problem to secure horses for additional troops.

At the present time the army buys 17,000 horses every year. The average cavalry or artillery horse lasts five years, while those in the infantry branch, who are used by the officers, last about seven years. Every horse used by the army has to be replaced every five years.

It is the intention of the war department to divide the country into geographical sections. Remount stations, where horses will be raised and trained for the service, will be established at the Newport rifle range, which is considered the best point in Kentucky to raise horses; Springfield, O.; Fort Riley, Kan.; the Montana country, near Helena; and the California foothills and Fort Reno, Okla.

The recent establishment of a remount station in Lexington, Ky., by the German government has opened the eyes of army officers to the advantages of the remount system. It has long been recognized that American horses are the best in the world for army purposes, and it is the intention of the German government to introduce them for use in the Kaiser's army. German horses will be imported into America and sent to Lexington, where they will be crossed with American horses. It is hoped that better horses will be available for use of the German troops.

In the geographical divisions of the remount station men will tour the adjacent farming region to buy up the best horses. A horse census will be taken by the government, which will show how many and what kind of horses can be used by the army in case of war.

All horses brought to the various remount stations will be trained for service. They will be put through evolutions that will make them useful as soon as they are received at an army post. At the present time "green" horses are sent to the different posts for development.

The system of remount stations will put an end to this practice, which has been the source of considerable annoyance, as many of the horses have been found worthless after efforts to train them. Every horse that leaves a remount station will be thoroughly tested.

Farmers will be encouraged to raise horses for the army. The government will put up chase horses at all times without making the farmers wait, as is the present custom, until the army needs them.

The Newport rifle range is recommended because Cincinnati is a good horse and mule market, and it is the idea of the government to have agents watch the market for desirable steeds.

Garb of Enlisted Men.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Changes in uniform for the enlisted men of the army, with a view of making it more practical for every day service purposes, are receiving attention at the War Department just now. Various recommendations have been received on the subject, one of which has come from Col. L. M. Maus, whose observations are based on his experience with the militia in the field. He believes that the present regulation garb is unsuited for campaign purposes in a hot or tropical climate, and that the infantry marching trousers should be made full around the knee and the cuff extended down the leg far enough to be enclosed by the top of the marching shoe, thus doing away with the legging.

AERONAUT FALLS 2,000 FEET

Parachute Gear Fails Rigging and He Drops to Earth.

Barnstable, Mass., Aug. 30.—Nearly 1,000 persons at the Barnstable county fair saw "Professor" Maloney, a balloonist, drop 2,000 feet to earth, strike on the top of a cedar fence post and escape with his life.

Maloney made his ascent as usual and as the visitors at the fair ground gazed upward they saw that his attempts to cut his parachute loose were fruitless. A sharp wind had blown the rope which connects with the knife amongst a mass of cords higher up and out of reach of the balloonist.

For fully two miles Maloney floated along. The gas was rapidly leading from the big bag above him and he prepared for the long drop. As he neared the earth the canvas enveloped the body of the aeronaut and prevented him feeling where he was about to alight. He struck in a half-standing position on the top of a cedar fence post used by a farmer to mark off his field. His back was terribly torn and his left arm injured.

A long line of automobiles, headed by one carrying Gov. Curtis Guild, who was a visitor at the fair, rushed to the spot where Maloney had fallen. The man was picked up to a semi-conscious condition and hurried to his hotel in Barnstable. Physicians who attended Maloney say he is not internally injured and will recover.

MILLIONAIRE IS LOST

Mysterious Disappearance of Rich Manufacturer in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Despite the fact that the whole police force has been directed to search for him no trace has been found of Edward Heldbach, a wealthy manufacturer of women's wear in Cincinnati, who disappeared Monday. The fact that he had about $1,000 in his possession when he disappeared has increased the apprehension of his relatives.

Monday Heldbach had lunch with his brother. He left to go to an express office to send drafts abroad. He had an engagement to meet his brother later, but has not been seen since by anybody who knows him. His wife is at Greenwood, Conn., and is distressed because of his disappearance.

A search has been organized to learn whether Heldbach was the victim of accident or foul play. All of the millionaire's usual haunts in New York have been watched for three days but he has not appeared at any place where he was known.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Charged with the larceny of $9,000 of his employer's funds, Edward Phillips, a clerk for the stock brokerage firm of G. B. Phillips had charge of the firm's bank deposit book and check book and had not taken a vacation for five years until this week. He had been absent only two days when his substitute discovered that the bank book and check book did not tally and that Phillips had been in the habit of depositing checks but withholding cash deposits.

TO RESTORE GUILLOTINE

French Government Unable to Check Crime Without It.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—There is reason to believe that the guillotine may again make its appearance in France for the carrying out of capital punishment. The French government has decided to make by Sollellant, who was condemned to death in this city last month for the atrocious murder of a little child. President Fallieres alone can now save the man. There is a considerable element of the French public which favors the restoration of the guillotine in the case of Sollellant on account of the atrocious crime, and it is believed, moreover, that the use of this instrument would check the wave of brutal acts which lately has swept over the country.

M. Lepine, the prefect of police, already is arranging to erect a guillotine in a secluded spot for the execution of Sollellant.
